Battery-operated Heating Pad Heaty by Beurer is ETM test winner

Ulm, 17 June 2026 – The ETM Test Magazine has examined seven heat pad models in an online comparison test – with an outstanding result for Beurer: The innovative Battery-operated Heating Pad HK 77 Heaty Smokey Taupe achieved the awards “test winner” and “energy saving winner” with 96.3%. The HK 145 Cosy Weight also achieved a strong result with “very good” and 92.5%.

The HK 77 Heaty clearly takes the lead in the comparison with a score of 96.3%. According to ETM, it can “outperform all other models” in the test. The testers observed “enormous temperature peaks at an impressive speed” and highlighted that the heat pad can “maintain these values very steadily”.

The quality of the outer material is praised as “excellent”. The comfort of use is also convincing: In addition to an appealing size and weight, a long-lasting battery ensures that, according to the test report, Heaty is “completely mobile in use”, meaning it can also be used on the go. For its energy efficiency, the battery-operated heating pad receives not only the test win but also the title “energy saving winner”.

Very good for HK 145 Cosy Weight

The HK 145 Cosy Weight also achieved a very good result with 92.5%. A special feature of the HK 145 is its gentle weight. For the testers, this is a huge advantage, as the heat pad can “wonderfully adapt to the contours of the body” and the weight can serve for relaxation.

The ETM Test Magazine also praises the quality of the outer textile as well as the six selectable temperature settings, which allow precise adjustment to individual heating needs.

Two strong results for Beurer

The double award for the two heat pads in the ETM test confirms not only the high quality of Beurer products but also the innovative strength and many years of experience of Beurer as a pioneer in the field of flexible heating.
